HONORANDS OF THE 2003 COMMENCEMENT

MARGARET HAMBURG
DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Dr. Margaret Hamburg has made significant contributions to medicine and to public policies over the course of her career. She is currently vice president for biological programs at the Nuclear Threat Initiative in Washington, D.C., and is an internationally recognized authority on the threats posed by bioterrorism.

Dr. Hamburg earned her undergraduate degree at Harvard and received her M.D.

GRACE PALEY
DOCTOR OF LETTERS

Grace Paley's short stories and poems document the uncommon lives of everyday people with pathos and humor. Her short stories and essays have appeared in The New Yorker, Esquire, and The Atlantic Monthly; her collections of stories include The Little Disturbances of Man (1959), Enormous Changes at the Last Minute (1974), Later the Same Day (1985), and The Collected Stories (1994). Paley taught for 23 years at Sarah Lawrence University, three years at the City University of New York graduate program, and at Syracuse and Columbia universities.

Since her retirement she has taught at Johns Hopkins, Stanford, and Dartmouth. A member of the Academy of American Letters, she has received a John Simon Guggenheim Fellowship, two awards from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Edith Wharton Award (1989), the Rea Award for the Short Story, the Vermont Excellence in the Arts Award (1993), the Lannan Literary Award for Fiction (1997), and The Reader's Digest

HONORS IN MAJOR SUBJECTS

The Departments of Art History, Biology, Chemistry, English, Geology, History, Mathematics, Music, Psychology, Romance Languages, and Sociology and Anthropology, and the Biochemistry, Latin American Studies, Neuroscience, and Women's Studies Programs award only one level of departmental honors. Other departments award honors at the levels of Highest Honors, High Honors, and Honors, and the recipients are so designated.
