Citation for Robert F. White '77, P'15 Presented by Andrew C. Rudalevige, Thomas Brackett Reed Professor of Government May 2023

Robert White – entrepreneurial executive, political counselor and "wingman," philanthropist, educator—we honor you for your service to your community, your country, and not least your college.

You came to Bowdoin from working-class Woburn, Massachusetts, as a first-generation student majoring in economics and mathematics in the class of 1977. Here you bridged the divides between campus cliques and plugged the gap between the goalposts; you won not just the ECAC ice hockey championship but prestigious leadership positions and magna cum laude honors too.

Soon a CPA and then an MBA, you joined Bain Consulting and were the first to join Willard "Mitt" Romney as he launched the new Bain Capital in 1984. That professional and personal partnership would ultimately enter the political arena and cross a vast terrain of public policy and public service, including stops at the 2002 Salt Lake City Olympics, the Massachusetts State House, and then the national hustings. As Governor Romney's presidential campaign chair, you were lauded as his "wingman in the war room"—expert, trusted, calm, discreet. In 2008 you

Throughout, your love of this college has been students for whom your leadership and remark a lifetime' opportunities. Through three decade Trustees, you helped Bowdoin grow and prosp required all your managerial—and yes, "wingm through the existential turbulence of a global p

The Book of Proverbs tells us that "Wisdom is coincidence that so many individuals and instit Bob White. Bowdoin is so very grateful it has r but of your energetic devotion and beneficence

President Rose, on behalf of the College, it is r doctor of humane letters, honoris causa.