The Intersection of Digital Humanities and Italian Studies

Dean Zucconi, Class of 2019

The digital humanities field is rising in popularity, relevance, and importance, but what, exactly, is it? Technically put, it is the application of computational thinking (formulaic expression of problems